

THE WESLEYAN ALUMNAE

NOVEMBER, 1969

OUR PROJECT:
TO MAKE
WESLEYAN BETTER

Nov. 1970

"With your help we can't miss", Chairman Mackay tells "strong arms" of his Steering Committee.

"BIG FOUR" Atlanta Area Fund Campaign

The Hon. James A. Mackay
Chairman, Atlanta Area Campaign

Rufus Green
*Chairman, General Gifts
Chairman, Special Gifts*

Jane Mulkey Green, '42
*President, Wesleyan Alumnae Assn.
Chairman, Arrangements*

Sarah Curry Jones, '48
President, Atlanta Club Chairman, Attendance

84417

"We Can Make Wesleyan Better"

"To make Wesleyan better—this is our project", announced President W. Earl Strickland to faculty, staff, student body, alumnae and other friends assembled at Opening Convocation on September 18, 1969.

We have chosen his projected aim as the theme for our November alumnae magazine. Some of the constituents of the thrust to make Wesleyan better are the campaign for capital funds (see p. 3), the need for more students (p. 5), the redesigning of curriculum and strengthening of faculty (p. 6). Alumnae can help in all of these areas.

"Welcome to our new Alumnae Director", wrote Verna French Shaffer, '16, of Cordele, Ga. "From the article in the Macon Telegraph you promise to be a worthy successor to all our other lovely and gifted ones preceding you" (see pp. 8-9).

"We don't have to protest and demonstrate and riot to get somebody at Wesleyan to listen to us", said a student on the Wesleyan Notebook TV show in October. (See student interview, p. 10).

A review of a decade of progress (part of the report presented by Dr. Strickland to the Board of Trustees at their annual fall meeting, October 30), is on p. 4. See also News Events, Class Notes, Vital Statistics, and on the back cover—REUNION!

EDITOR:

FREDA (KAPLAN) NADLER, AB, '26

PHOTOGRAPHER:

J. Don Williams, Robert Wys, Drinnon, Inc.

Vol. 45: No.4, November, 1969

THE WESLEYAN ALUMNAE

is published four times
a year, November, February, May, August by

The Wesleyan College Alumnae Association

Macon, Georgia 31201

Members of the American Alumnae Council

Second class postage paid at Macon, Ga.

WESLEYAN ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION

PRESIDENT

JANE (MULKEY) GREEN, AB, '42, BFA, '43

ALUMNAE DIRECTOR:

FRANCES BRUCE VAN HORN, AB, '53

A Tribute to Elaine

To speak of Elaine Whitehurst's leaving her Wesleyan position seems to be misleading, for at this writing she is in her characteristic manner very effectively working for her Alma Mater in Atlanta.

Nevertheless, the Board of Managers feels it appropriate to express appreciation of Elaine on the occasion of her leaving the specific office of Alumnae Director at Wesleyan.

To say that Elaine has served efficiently does not take into account her imaginative approach to many projects and plans nor the patience with which she has managed details.

To say that she has worked effectively expresses neither the charm and poise with which she has represented us on so many public occasions nor the graciousness with which she has assisted us individually.

To say that Elaine has performed her duties enthusiastically does not properly convey the fact that her love for Wesleyan and her interest in its future have been a reservoir of inspiration to many alumnae.

For all these facets of her character and personality we are deeply grateful. We offer her our thanks and wish her happiness in her new home in Atlanta and in whatever new endeavors she may undertake.

Jane Green,
President, Wesleyan Alumnae Assn.
for the Board of Managers

HE RIDES AGAIN!

Trustee Bob Knox, Thomson, Ga., is in the saddle heading up the Augusta Area Campaign for funds, which will be launched early in 1970. Other areas in sections of Georgia, Florida, and South Carolina will follow. Harry Jackson, Georgia State Senator, will serve as chairman of the Columbus Area campaign.

ATLANTA CAMPAIGN WILL HELP TO MAKE WESLEYAN BETTER

MEN AND WOMEN WORK TOGETHER

College Representative at Atlanta Wesleyan Development Office, Elaine Wood Whitehurst, '53 (center), alumnae director past three years now living in Atlanta, works with Alumnae President Jane Mulkey Green, '42, and Marion Allison Webb, '49. Latter's husband, Jones Webb, is a Division Leader, like Rufus Smith, (below, center), with wife Betsy Palmer, '60, and President Strickland. Other "alumnae husbands" heading divisions are Dr. C. C. Boland, Jr. (Beverly Banks, '49), Frank Steinbruegge (Katherine Gibbs, '45), John L. Brooks (Carolyn Sims, '56), and Floyd C. Hale (Charlotte Jolly, '62). Office—318 Decatur Professional Bldg., 235 E. Ponce de Leon Ave., Decatur, Ga., 30030. Telephone—Area 404/378-0361.

THE ATLANTA AREA Campaign for the Wesleyan Fund is in full swing. A strong organization is putting the campaign over the top in record time.

With no specific goal for the area, emphasis has been placed on getting gifts and pledges toward the immediate goal of $1,500,000. With this assured in the very near future a long range goal of around six million has been set.

Chairman of the Atlanta Area is James A. Mackay, lawyer, former congressman, and state legislator (brother of Betty Mackay Asbury, '49, and cousin of Alumnae Award Winner, Kathleen Mackay Powell, '28).

KICK-OFF DINNER in this area was held Nov. 11 at the Sheraton Biltmore. A large crowd of alumnae, their husbands, parents of students and other friends of the college heard Reginald Trice, chairman of the board of trustees and national campaign chairman, give an up-to-date report, after which President Strickland outlined improvements that would be realized at Wesleyan as a result of this effort. The Wesleyannes charmed the guests with their singing. With Atlanta alumnae so heavily involved in the campaign this dinner took the place of the fall meeting of their club.

Final results in the Atlanta area will not be known until the end of the year and will be announced in the February magazine. The Macon area has so far contributed over $530,000. Leo (Jack) Huckabee, Jr., Macon chairman, was given a citation by the board of trustees at their annual meeting on Oct. 30. Alumnae, at press time, had pledged almost $600,000 of the grand total of $1,060,000 already achieved.

A DECADE OF PROGRESS IS REVIEWED

by President W. Earl Strickland

A QUESTION FREQUENTLY asked of, and for that matter by, those who work at the business of education at Wesleyan is, "How good really is the academic program offered by Wesleyan?"

The layman may think this is a simple question capable of being answered simply. The reverse is true. Only when one compares a superbly good school with an extremely bad school does one find an easy answer. There are prior questions to be faced—What is education? What is the academic program of a particular college intended to accomplish? Each one who attempts to judge is likely to proceed on the basis of his own pre-conceived responses to these prior questions. Most educators are agreed that quantitative indices have little value except to identify those college educational programs which obviously are inadequate. It may be impossible for the president of a college to give a completely unbiased answer to the question posed.

Wesleyan's contribution to its graduates, I believe, is broader than the formal teaching—it rests upon the student's "total experience" at Wesleyan. And yet, at the very least, there is good ground for saying that Wesleyan has a "solid" academic program. There are certain indicators which experienced educators watch in order to form an opinion about quality. Since this is my tenth report, it seems appropriate to feature here some analysis of what has happened to Wesleyan's academic program during the decade, relying both on the written records and on personal observation. The comparison will be between the year 1959-60 and the year 1969-70. First, I shall make some general statements about changes initiated during the decade and then I shall attempt a brief department by department analysis.

The portion of the college budget devoted to academic purposes, designated "Educational and General," in 1959-60 was $402,255. The 1969-70 figure is $1,079,790. The 1959-60 figure designated "Instructional" was $275,081; this year's figure is $608,561. Salaries paid teachers in 1959-60 (excluding administrative faculty) ranged from $3,624 to $6,600; in 1969-70 (also excluding administrators) they range from $7,000 to $13,926. At the same time fringe benefits have been increased.

During the decade more than one and one-quarter million dollars have been spent on up-grading academic facilities at Wesleyan, exclusive of current funds budgeted year by year for departmental purchases of new equipment.

It is a truism among educators that a college must not "proliferate courses," or overextend and spread itself too thin. In line with this reasoning Wesleyan during the decade dropped a graduate program in music, discontinued its home economics department, dropped some majors and combined some others. Both the M.M. and the B.S. degrees have been discontinued.

ONE INDICATION OF THE stability of an academic program is the percentage of the total student body enrolled in the upper division. During the decade there has been a notable increase in the percentage of the total student body enrolled in the senior class at Wesleyan. The student who graduated in 1959 constituted 14% of the 1958-59 classified degree students; those who graduated in 1969 constituted 19% of the 1968-69 classified degree students. There is also a trend for large numbers of Wesleyan graduates to continue graduate studies.

In the spring of 1969 the national scholastic honor society, Phi Kappa Phi, was installed at Wesleyan. This society is comparable to Phi Beta Kappa, the difference being that it includes professional schools and therefore is found usually on university campuses. At Wesleyan it replaces two purely local honor groups—Mu Alpha Omega in Fine Arts and Phi Delta Phi in Liberal Arts.

Students now participate fully on a number of faculty committees—Library, Programs and Exhibitions, Religious Activities, Orientation, and Curriculum. In addition there is an ad hoc committee of faculty and students dealing with communication between the two groups. This entire development began several years ago at Wesleyan before the current agitation in this direction became a part of the national scene.

The Pierce Scholars Program has now been well established at Wesleyan. It provides special seminars and incentives for scholarly achievement to outstanding students. In addition there recently has been a growing experimentation in advanced placement of freshmen as well as acceptance into college of unusual students before they graduate from high school.

As the direct result of participation during the summer of 1969 by four of our faculty members in a workshop on liberal arts education sponsored by the Danforth Foundation, a proposal for a number of academic innovations currently is before the College Faculty for action.

During the decade the number of private offices for faculty has been increased greatly so that most teachers now have such offices. We anti-

WE MUST HAVE STUDENTS TO SURVIVE

"Send us names of girls who might be candidates for admission"

Allen Sanders, Director of Admissions

THE ADMISSIONS PICTURE for schools such as Wesleyan is a gloomy one. Since the mid-1930's, with the post-World War I "baby boom" exploded, applications have declined. Also, many of today's young women choose to enroll in coed institutions, what with certain former men's and women's schools opening their doors to both sexes. State colleges and universities, too, improved this past decade through federal funds, attract some of our budget-minded prospects.

Thus, our pool of possible students has shrunk.

In order to make Wesleyan better—in order to survive—Wesleyan must have students.

The admissions program at Wesleyan, directed by Allen Sanders, is increasing its efforts to make contact with school counselors, with high school students and their parents. President Strickland and other representatives of the college have gone to meetings and parties sponsored by alumnae and various friends in the Carolinas, Alabama, Georgia, Florida.

"You can help to make things better," said Dr. Strickland. "As individuals and as clubs, alumnae must act as liaison agents with schools icipate reaching a hundred per cent soon. Such a development makes possible better counseling of students by faculty as well as better study conditions for the teachers themselves.

(Dr. Strickland proceeded to list the academic improvements at Wesleyan these past ten years, department by department, starting with the Willet library, air-conditioned, with adequate space for study and research, and for the book collection which has increased by fifty percent over that of ten years ago.)

in their localities; you must be sources of current information about Wesleyan for school counselors and prospective students."

A girl from Ohio looked at 19 colleges and told her parents that Wesleyan was the only one she would consider; another of this year's 155 freshmen saw the campus veiled in Christmas rain, and without entering a building sent in her application.

Many girls come to Wesleyan because their mothers or some other relative loved the architecture and landscaping of our campus, were stimulated and inspired by the small classes and personal interest of faculty members, were challenged by the freedom of thought and action given to students and faculty in both academic and social spheres.

WHEN THE CHIMES rang out the October morning of Wesleyan's 132nd opening convocation the girls streaming into Porter auditorium represented 24 states and five foreign countries. Of this year's Tri-K freshmen, 14 were daughters of alumnae, eight were granddaughters, and two were great granddaughters.

Daughters include Susan Arnold, whose mother is Lina Jones Arnold, and grandmother Florence Trimble Jones, former alumnae director. Other daughters are Carol Bacon (mother, Marijean Ellers Allsopp), Lucy Blackshear (grandmother, Annie Hardeman Blackshear), Ruth Admire (grandmother, Ruth Thompson Sullivan), Carol Blanchard (Anne Carlton Blanchard; father is trustee), Marsha Brown (great grandmother, Mary Lou Hunt), Carol Johnson (great grandmother, Mrs. Eugene Floyd), Alta Mae Marvin (Anna Lou Carrington Marvin), Margaret McKninnon Mathews (Alice McKninnon Mathews; grand mother, Lula Murphy Mathews), Emily Morgan

(Barbara Davis Morgan; grandmother, Edna Mizelle Davis), Jaima Owens (Ronda Stephens Owen), Nancy Osgood (Sarah Glover Osgood), Mary Graham Ponder (Adelaide Wallace Ponder; grandmother Anne Douglas Wallace), Becky Read (Nadine Crammer Read) Betty Reeves (Elizabeth O'Kelley Reeves), Carol Thurmond Ricketson (grandmother, Louise Pharr Sparks), Natalie Ryan (Patricia Hartman Ryan; grandmother, Janice Gather Arnold), Virginia Slack (Arlene Taylor Slack), Angelynne Thompson (Letitia Eason Thompson).

Many freshmen had aunts, great aunts, cousins, and other family at Wesleyan. One girl, Lynn Ellis, Hollywood, Fla., has a whole page of relatives: great great grandmother, Margaret Antonia Pettus; great grandmother, Maud Branch; great great aunts, Willie, Theo, and Sarah Tinsley, Marion Griffith; aunt, Janet Ward; cousins, Florence, Mabel, Anne, and Branch Ellis, Hattie and Sarah Branch, Effie and Agnes Barden, Carol Griffith; Wesleyan trustees, her great grandfather, Rev. T. D. Ellis, D.D., and grandfather, T. D. Ellis, Jr.

Margaret McPherson's grandfather, Dr. H. C. McPherson, Jr., was president of the college from 1942-46; also three aunts, Jacqueline and Modena McPherson, and Elizabeth McPherson Wall. Nancy Osgood found herself assigned, quite by coincidence to the former room of her mother, (Sarah Glover, '44), Persons 209.

"We treasure equally with these daughters of Wesleyannes the students who have no family connection, but who chose Wesleyan for other reasons; they, we hope will have daughters to send to us in the years ahead," said Dr. Strickland.

WE ASSESS ACADEMICS AND PLAN FOR THE FUTURE

IN THIS ERA OF UNREST and change on many campuses, Wesleyan too, is in a period of assessment and innovation, holding fast to high standards while flexible to meet new opportunities and adjustments.

Major changes in curriculum are being contemplated involving credits and the nature of courses in both the fine arts area and in general education, according to Dean Joseph B. James. Being explored also is the possibility of a student's choosing to take a very limited number of elective courses with no other grade than "Pass" or "Fail". Many educators, according to Dr. James, think this might appeal to students who have strong interests outside their major field, but who are not sure of their abilities.

A condensed evaluation of the basic core curriculum, particularly as recent graduates assess it, is being undertaken by Wesleyan. Dr. Lillian Cowie, chairman of the Biology department, heads a subcommittee of the curriculum committee whose assignment is to poll graduates of the past ten years.

"It is approximately ten years since a major revision of the core curriculum was made", said Dr. Cowie, "and we are reexamining it. The responses of graduates will be considered as a component in our assessment of this curriculum."

Alumnae are receiving questionnaires relating to the poll. They are urged to reply promptly. Their evaluation will greatly aid the committee.

ALL OF THE PROFESSIONAL education courses for the preparation of elementary and high school teachers have been redesigned and rescheduled. This revised sequence of courses is being taught at Wesleyan for the first time this academic year. Students will start the sequence earlier than formerly—second semester of the sophomore year with an orientation to teaching seminar. Planned and varied laboratory experiences will begin then and culminate in the senior year with full-time student teaching, said Dr. Ernestine Bledsoe, chairman of the department of education.

A Learning Center is being established on campus where our students can work with elementary or secondary pupils as individuals to learn to determine learning readiness and to provide appropriate experiences. Activities in the Learning Center are designed to supplement observation and participation in the public schools.

For the prospective high school teacher we have a new course, "Teaching High School Subjects", to be

"...alumnae evaluation will greatly aid in assessing curriculum..."

team taught by the professor of secondary education and consultants from the various subject fields taught in high school.

In the planning stages is a program for preparing early childhood teachers. One of the courses, "Teaching The Young Child," will be taught both Fall and Spring semesters this year by a new faculty member who has specialized and taught at this level.

Any alumna interested in obtaining certification could register for these courses, said Dr. Bledsoe.

Possible calendar changes are being studied by the faculty, such as a 12-weeks first semester before Christmas, and four weeks after. The second semester calendar would remain unchanged. Dean James has asked for alumnae reaction to these ideas. If calendar changes do come about it might mean adoption of a mini-semester which would give freedom in January for intensive study in a single field.

SIGNIFICANTLY STRENGTHENED faculty, with an increased number of people holding advanced degrees, plus our tradition of small classes makes for quality academic work", said Dean James.

Three new Doctorates include William E. Brode, PhD, professor of Biology; James F. Reddick, DMA, associate professor of music (piano) and James W. Reeves, EdD, professor of mathematics. Also, Robert Everett, acting head of the history department, obtained his PhD from the U of Ga. last spring.

Dr. Brode, a Tennessee "snake and fish man", wrote his doctoral dissertation on salamanders. Dr. Reddick, with degrees from Furman and Fla. State, gave a brilliant piano recital on Nov. 3; he hails from Sardis, Ga. Dr. Reeves, an Oklahoman, earned his degrees at Indiana U., Notre Dame, and the U of Florida.

Tena Roberts, '60, has been appointed acting librarian of the Lucy Lester Willet Memorial Library. As a student assistant under Miss Katherine P. Carnes, Tena learned to love the Wesleyan library and library work, she said. She studied library science at Florida State, receiving the MS degree in 1964, when she came to Wesleyan as assistant librarian. A member of Pi Gamma Mu, she is named in "Outstanding Young Women of America", "Who's Who in Library Science", and "The Dictionary of International Biography."

One of 42 Wesleyan seniors practice teaching, Nancy Bearden, '70, Macon, gets response from her students at Bibb County elementary school.

Librarian Tena Roberts shows Dean James new book.

Dr. Reddick Opens Faculty Recitals

Versatile Mrs. Van Horn To Be Alumnae Director

By BLYTHE MCKAY
Telegraph Woman's Editor

Versatile is the word for Mrs. Richard D. Van Horn, who on Nov. 15 is to assume the position of Alumnae Director for Wesleyan College. Dr. W. Earl Strickland, president of the college, yesterday announced appointment of Mrs. Van Horn to that post to succeed Mrs. James M. Whitehurst, who moved to Atlanta during the summer with her family when her husband's business transferred him there.

"Versatile" is the word for Mr. Van Horn. Others applied frequently to the tall slim Maconite are "chic", "charming", "adaptable", and "clever."

That Mrs. Van Horn is versatile is the easiest statement to prove by listing her interests and accomplishments. That she is chic the Wesleyan students will probably be proving soon when they try to follow the fashionable picture she makes with her trim clothes (most of which she makes) and her sleek coiffure.

Mrs. Van Horn, who is about to add the alumnae job to her other full-time jobs of being a wife, mother and housekeeper, is the former Frances Bruce, daughter of Mrs. D. F. Bruce and the late Mr. Bruce, who was long-time County Agent here. Now with four daughters of her own at home, the newest not quite a month old, she is about to take on the more than 8,400 of Wesleyan's daughters. For it will be her job to keep up with the alumnae of that institution.

She's to plunge headlong into it, for the day she starts work in the Alumnae Office is the Saturday of Homecoming Day at Wesleyan, when upper-classmen as well as returning daughters of the college will be entertained at the annual coffee in the Alumnae Office.

Outside Activities
The alumnae work will mean there's not too much time anymore for some of the outside-the-home activities in which Frances Van Horn has demonstrated her versatility, but they have been curtailed anyway somewhat for the past three years while she taught school. They have included, in the past, such things as being a Brownie leader, being president of Southern Gardeners, being chairman of the big Howard Community Club Flower Show, being chairman of the Federated Garden Clubs of Macon's fall flower show at the Georgia State Fair and other related garden club jobs; serving on the steering committee for American Education Week for the Bibb Education Association last year, and on the committee to rewrite the curriculum guides for third grades in math and language arts, and being an officer in the WSCS of Martha Bowman Methodist Church. But she's still president of the Tom Johnson Sunday School class for couples at that church.

However, at home the interests which prove her versatility will continue. They include sewing; she makes most of the clothes for her daughters and most of her own. Tall and slim, she says her height makes it difficult for her to find ready-made clothes to fit.

She began sewing after her marriage. Liked it, took a course offered at the Howard Community Club by the vocational school and has been making clothes and draperies for the house ever since, plus such decorative items as crewel work covers for pillows in her living room. She knits too, making sweaters for the family. The knitting and crewel work accompany her in the car and are done largely while she waits for her daughters "for dancing lessons, piano lessons, viola lessons, doctor's and dentist's appointments."

She's also interested in ceramics, pointed to some quail she made.

Organization Helps
Then when does she plan meals and prepare them?

"Five minutes before he gets home, Dick says," she quotes her husband. She admits that she doesn't "really like to cook, except when in the mood," adding "I'd rather be in the yard." In the yard, she gardens, raising flowers she enjoys arranging.

Not really liking to cook, she does it the easy way. She keeps two freezers stocked, one with meats, one with breads and vegetables, in order to be able to manage those five-minute-ahead meals. Which means that her cooking is done when she's "in the mood" and tucked away.

Organization then is answer to her being able to do so many things. "Keeping the girls going in different directions needs organization," she says.

House Grows Too

The Van Horns live in a charming red frame house they built on Forsyth Road, next door to Mr. Van Horn's parents, in 1956, the year their first child was born. The house has grown with the family. First they closed in the carport to make a large den, and with the arrival of the fourth daughter they added a bedroom and bath and a utility room.

The Van Horn children are Lauri, 13, and in the ninth grade at Miller Junior High; Cris, 12, and in the seventh grade at Alexander IV; Tracy, 8, and in the third grade at Alexander IV; and Miriam Frances, who was born Oct. 1 and is in a pastel room bedecked with nursery story figures.

Frances Bruce attended the local schools, graduating from Miller High and then attending Wesleyan. But before she was graduated from Wesleyan in 1952, she was married Feb. 1 that year, so she was graduated as Frances Van Horn. Right after her graduation with an A.B. degree in elementary education she be-

The youngest of her four daughters, Miriam, puts in her word when Mrs. Richard Van Horn discusses with the girls her new position as Alumnae Director of Wesleyan, which will give her at least 8,400 Wesleyan girls to keep up with. From left, below, the older daughters are Tracy, 8; Lauri, 13, and Cris, 12.

came the first swimming instructor and life guard at the YWCA's new outside pool, putting to use for the summer another of her main interests. Earlier she had taught swimming for the Red Cross for several years. She continues that swimming interest, for the Van Horns have a pool just behind their house and for the past eight summers she has taught private lessons in her own pool. (Also behind the Van Horn house is a small red stable, for the family has a horse too.)

Has Taught

For a year and a half Mrs. Van Horn used her Wesleyan training as a teacher at Ellsworth Hall School, then there was no more school for her while her three older children were arriving and needing her at home. When Tracy started to kindergarten, she returned to the school room and taught third grade for the past three years at Dr. John H. Heard School, resigning last spring. Now she's returning again to school — to college, and looking forward, she declares to the new work, because she "loves people." She's to keep 9-to-4 office hours, going down the road to Wesleyan after the school bus has picked up the older girls and returning home when they do, and knowing that during those hours a faithful maid will be with the youngest daughter.

VERSATILE FRANCES VAN HORN NEW ALUMNAE DIRECTOR

By Blythe McKay, '28

Versatile is the word for Mrs. Richard D. Van Horn, who on Nov. 15 is to assume the position of Alumnae Director for Wesleyan College. Dr. V. Earl Strickland, president of the college, yesterday announced appointment of Mrs. Van Horn to that post to succeed Mrs. James M. Whitehurst, who moved to Atlanta during the summer with her family when her husband's business transferred him there.

"Versatile" is the main word for Mrs. Van Horn. Others applied frequently to the tall slim Maconite are "chic", "charming", "adaptable", and "clever."

That Mrs. Van Horn is versatile is the easiest statement to prove by listing her interests and accomplishments. That she is chic the Wesleyan students will probably be proving soon when they try to follow the fashionable picture she makes with her trim clothes (most of which she makes) and her sleek coiffure.

Mrs. Van Horn, who is about to add the alumnae job to her other full-time jobs of being a wife, mother and housekeeper, is the former Frances Bruce, daughter of Mrs. D. F. Bruce and the late Mr. Bruce, who was long-time County Agent here. Now with four daughters of her own at home, the newest not quite a month old, she is about to take on the more than 8,400 of Wesleyan's daughters. For it will be her job to keep up with the alumnae of that institution.

She's to plunge headlong into it, for the day she starts work in the Alumnae Office is the Saturday of Homecoming Day at Wesleyan, when upper-classmen as well as returning daughters of the college will be entertained at the annual coffee in the Alumnae Office.

Outside Activities

The alumnae work will mean there's not too much time anymore for some of the outside-the-home activities in which Frances Van Horn has demonstrated her versatility, but they have been curtailed anyway somewhat for the past three years while she taught school. They have included, in the past, such things as being a Brownie leader, being president of Southern Gardeners, being chairman of the big Howard Community Club Flower Show, being chairman of the Federated Garden Clubs of Macon's fall flower show at the Georgia State Fair and other related garden club jobs;

serving on the steering committee for American Education Week for the Bibb Education Association last year, and on the committee to rewrite the curriculum guides for third grades in math and language arts, and being an officer in the WSCS of Martha Bowman Methodist Church. But she's still president of the Tom Johnson Sunday School class for couples at that church.

However, at home the interests which prove her versatility will continue. They include sewing; she makes most of the clothes for her daughters and most of her own. Tall and slim, she says her height makes it difficult for her to find ready-made clothes to fit.

She began sewing after her marriage, liked it, took a course offered at the Howard Community Club by the vocational school and has been making clothes and draperies for the house ever since, plus such decorative items as crewel work covers for pillows in her living room. She knits too, making sweaters for the family. The knitting and crewel work accompany her in the car and are done largely while she waits for her daughters "for dancing lessons, piano lessons, viola lessons, doctor's and dentist's appointments."

She's also interested in ceramics, pointed to some quail she made.

Organization Helps

Then when does she plan meals and prepare them?

"Five minutes before he gets home, Dick says," she quotes her husband. She admits that she doesn't "really like to cook, except when in the mood", adding "I'd rather be in the yard." In the yard, she gardens, raising flowers she enjoys arranging.

Not really liking to cook, she does it the easy way. She keeps two freezers stocked, one with meats, one with breads and vegetables, in order to be able to manage those five-minute-ahead meals. Which means that her cooking is done when she's "in the mood", and tucked away.

Organization then is the answer to her being able to do so many things. "Keeping the girls going in different directions need organization," she says.

House Grows Too

The Van Horns live in a charming red frame house they built on Forsyth Road, next door to Mr. Van Horn's parents, in 1956, the year their first child was born. The house has grown with the family. First they closed in the carport to make a large den, and with the arrival of the fourth daughter they added a bedroom and bath and a utility room.

The Van Horn children are Lauri, 13, and in the ninth grade at Miller Junior High; Cris, 12, and in the seventh grade at Alexander IV; Tracy 8, and in the third grade at Alexander IV, and Miriam Frances, who was born Oct. 1 and is in a pastel room bedecked with nursery story figures.

Frances Bruce attended the local schools, graduating from Miller High and then attending Wesleyan. But before she was graduated from Wesleyan in 1953, she was married Feb. 1 that year, so she was graduated as Frances Van Horn.

Right after her graduation with an A.B. degree in elementary education she became the first swimming instructor and life guard at the YWCA's new outside pool, putting to use for the summer another of her main interests. Earlier she had taught swimming for the Red Cross for several years. She continues that swimming interest, for the Van Horns have a pool just behind their house and for the past eight summers she has taught private lessons in her own pool. (Also behind the Van Horn house is a small red stable, for the family has a horse too.)

Has Taught

For a year and a half Mrs. Van Horn used her Wesleyan training as a teacher at Ellsworth Hall School, then there was no more school for her while her three older children were arriving and needing her at home. When Tracy started kindergarten, she returned to the school room and taught third grade for the past three years at Dr. John H. Heard School, resigning last spring.

Now she's returning again to school—to college, and looking forward, she declares, to the new work, because she "loves people." She's to keep 9-to-4 office hours, going down the road to Wesleyan after the school bus has picked up the older girls and returning home when they do, and knowing that during those hours a faithful maid will be with the youngest daughter.

(Blythe McKay, Woman's Editor of THE MACON TELEGRAPH, featured the above story on Sunday, Oct. 26—see opposite page).

NEW CHANGES GIVE STUDENTS MORE RESPONSIBILITY

Each spring the "Big Four" officers and boards, both newly elected and outgoing, share a weekend retreat at Callaway Gardens. With President Strickland and their faculty advisors they go through the Student Handbook, word by word, seeking to make it better, more applicable to the times. Here some of this year's changes are discussed by Elaine Wood Whitehurst, '53, and a selected group of students. A taped version was played for Group VIII of the Atlanta Club, alumnae of '60-'69, at their banquet on Oct. 13.

WHITEHURST: Most of this year's changes seem to have stemmed from the student's sincere desire to have more personal responsibility about her life at Wesleyan. Probably one of the most significant changes has been in the area called the "house director," or the "house mother." Tell us about that.

WOODWARD: Hello. I'm Susan Woodward, the senior Dorm Assistant for Jones Dormitory. The role of house director has changed considerably, just over the summer. We don't have house mothers any more at Wesleyan. Instead, eight seniors were asked to live in different dormitories on the campus. There are two in Jones with the juniors, two in Wortham with the freshmen, two more in Persons with the freshmen and two in Banks with the sophomores. The seniors don't have dorm assistants as such, because they're supposed to be able to take care of themselves. This position was developed to give the students more personal responsibility in their dormitory lives . . . the senior dormitory assistant is to be someone with whom girls can talk, when they have problems. Wesleyan decided that the role of the house-mother was archaic, and that we could do better with the senior dorm assistants. Presently we are finding out . . . it is an experiment.

WHITEHURST: Susan, how do you feel about not being able to continue to live in the senior dormitory with your own class?

SUSAN: It was a very difficult decision; sometimes I felt sick inside, thinking about it. But we have been such good friends for three years and we decided—my roommate and I—that it would not make that much difference because we see the seniors all the time at meals. Wesleyan isn't so large that you lose your friends in the crowd and it has been nice for Susan Reynolds and me, the other senior dorm assistant, to live in Jones with the Juniors. They're a real pleasure to live with.

WHITEHURST: That's great, Susan. Knowing that you're contributing to the lives of these other girls must replace some of the feeling that you had for your own class. Probably one of the most drastic changes, too, that has come about at Wesleyan this year has been the changing of the names of some of our famous Big Four organizations. One of those was the Athletic Association.

MOLPUS: Hi, I'm B. J. Molpus, president of the Student Recreation Association. It used to be the Athletic Association, but this past year at Retreat, we concentrated on revising our whole program and we found that we really were more in the area of recreation than athletics, seeing that recreation is such a broad topic. We were able to include movies and activities on the lake and other kinds of things under the term "recreation". Of course, we still handle the athletic phase at Wesleyan with our famous soccer games, basketball games and the Purple Knights' swimming team (laughter), and such. But we feel that we have a lot freer room to move about now that we have this new term.

WHITEHURST: Good! Thank you so much, B. J., and I have been so pleased with one of your interests, that is, the beautification of the campus. Another area that has changed its name on campus, or has a new look, is what we knew as the "Y".

PAYNE: Hello, I'm Charles Payne, president for the new Council for Religious Concern. We also felt that a name-change was necessary as we were operating on the campus and in the community. We were almost too tied-down by the national Student Y. and doing our own thing on campus and calling ourselves "Y", whereas we were not functioning as other Y's do on other campuses. So we decided to operate in the same sphere of influence and call ourselves what we really were. We function as before; we have the same projects, activities and work through commissions which we broaden every year. But we also plan for some of the student body, who really are interested in the real "Y", to organize one on campus and it will serve as a link with other students and will have a representative from the national Student "Y" on our new Board.

WHITEHURST: Thank you much. Now I want to talk to you about social standards. Have there been any drastic changes made?

COLLINS: Hello, this is Mar Catherine Collins, sophomore representative to Social Standards Board. One of our main changes this year is a more relaxed and casual atmosphere in dressing. For instance, on Wednesdays slacks and sports clothes may be worn in classes and also to meals, not allowed before. We're real pleased so far; most of the freshmen and the students who knew the old rules have really adapted well. Wesleyan still has its image of ladies, but in a little more casual manner. We've gotten a lot of activities planned for the coming year; Homecoming proves to be great again. With the help of SRA., we're working to get a really good weekend going!

WHITEHURST: Thank you. I think that it's interesting that you can be casual and still be well-dressed. As an older alumna, I have not noticed what I call sloppy dress on the Wesleyan campus. Now, let's talk about the Student government.

HAPPENINGS ON AND OFF CAMPUS

Form Florida Club

An active Central Florida alumnae club was formed at a luncheon meeting in Orlando in June. Guests were Dr. and Mrs. Strickland, Elaine Whitehurst, and Arline Finch.

"We plan 'rush' for incoming students, bus trips to Wesleyan, and other activities to benefit the college", wrote the enthusiastic president, Frances Strickland Bowden, '64. Sandi Boyd Whittaker, '62, is secretary.

Others at the meeting: Anne Lee Hood Geisler, '68; Johinna Hoffman Brazzeal, '53; Judith Meredith Gurney, '49; Martha Gaines Cash, '34; Harriette Wilkes Grimes, '57; Anabel Moyer Fleming, '19; Lucille Burnett Bazemore, '22; Suzanne Pemberton Fletcher, '66; Elizabeth Rycroft Wood, '44; "Kappy" Ellison Yundt, '48; Carolyn LeGrand Oswald, '46; Mitta Pharr Chessayre, '18; Shirley Wise Richardson, '63; Sue Summerhill O'Kelley, '62.

Distinguished Speaker

MISS KATHERINE PEDEN
National Representative

"Women have a vital role in solving the problems of our nation, but they haven't realized their own potential," said Miss Katherine Peden, industrial consultant in Kentucky, at Porter auditorium Nov. 13. Another recent speaker the Hon. John A. Gronouski, former US Ambassador to Poland talked at annual Fall Convocation, Oct. 29, on the appropriate use of American power.

For Macon Friends

For the fifth year the Macon club launched its Freshman Sponsor program, assigning local alumnae pairs of new girls as their special friends. "The main objective", said Sherry Staples Hubbard, student interest chairman, "is to let the freshmen know that we are interested in them and available if they need us." Sponsors meet, visit, and entertain their sponsorees during the school year.

A tea in honor of Elaine Wood Whitehurst before her departure from Macon and Wesleyan, where she served three years as alumnae director, was held by the Macon club in Aug. at the home of Edwina Hall Beall, club president. Jackie Davis Richardson, Nina Sheppard Terrell, and others helped with refreshments, and Katherine Terry Hall served. Randall Adams Huckabee, '44, furnished flowers. Frances Bruce Van Horn was introduced as alumnae director to succeed Elaine. The latter, moving to Atlanta, would supervise the alumnae office until Frances's arrival, at the same time serving as Wesleyan's representative at the Atlanta campaign office.

Augusta Fetes Girls

Honoring girls from the CSRA returning to Wesleyan this fall, also new freshmen, was the coke party given by the Augusta club the first week in September at the home of Jill Jayne Read. Janella Sammons Brand, club president, was co-hostess.

"This was an opportunity for the girls to get acquainted, and the alumnae enjoyed it, too, hearing about the new rules, etc." wrote Janella.

Nominations

A completely new slate of officers for the Wesleyan Alumnae Assn. will be selected on Alumnae Day, April 11, 1970. Deadline for nominations is Dec. 10. By that date nominations must also be in for Alumnae Awards for Distinguished Achievement and for Distinguished Service to Wesleyan, with background material on nominees. Please mail suggestions to the Alumnae Office. Thank you!

PYEATT: This is Susan Pyeatt, m on the Student Government Association, and we haven't changed our guidelines and rules. The most drastic of these, I would say, would be for upper classmen; we've given them the opportunity to use their own discretion as to destinations off-campus, and curfews—which are no longer "curfews" but dorm closing hours—during the week 12:30 and on weekends, 2:00. We did this to give more responsibility to the student and a chance to show what the Handbook calls "mature judgement and responsibility." We don't have as many infractions as we used to, which is understandable, because we don't have as many rules! (Laughter) I think it's going to work out.

WHITEHURST: Fine. Now by "dorm closing hour", you don't mean that you have to sign in by a certain time; you just have to be in the dorm by 12:30 on weeknights or 2:00 on weekends. And of course this is different for freshmen. Can you think of something that we've omitted?

TRAYLOR: This is Ellen Traylor, House President of Jones Dorm. I think the other five people have pretty well summed up the year and its changes. We do feel that this is going to be a good year, and we're looking forward to all the changes and putting them into operation. We're excited about this responsibility that we have been given, and at the same time maybe a little scared about being able to carry this out in the manner in which it should be carried out. But we're looking forward to the year and to everything that's ahead of us.

LOOK FOR INSPIRATION

Students of Creative Writing (taught by Ann Munck, '38) ponder "Woodblocks and Lino Prints Now" exhibit from Pratt Graphic Center hung in Wesleyan art building. Senior English major, Le Trombella, Atlanta, and Junior Eve Riddle, Jesup, Ga., hope pictures will be springboards to writing prose and poetry. The woodcut is by Ion Bitzan, of Romania.

FRANCES PRESENTS MAERZ HEAD

In appreciation of her beloved piano teacher, Joseph Maerz, "who gave me 'glimpses that have made me less forlorn' all my life", Frances Gurr McLanahan, '19, New York, commissioned sculptor William H. Stevens to do this bronze portrait. It was accepted by President Strickland and Reginald Trice, board chairman, in moving ceremonies Nov. 5, in Willet Library, where it will remain. Dr. S. L. Akers spoke in tribute to Mr. Maerz.

LAND OF THE DRAGON

Chinese phantasy is presented five times (Oct. 16-19) by Drama Department in collaboration with the Junior League of Macon, Inc. Over 3,000 local school children attended performances in Porter auditorium. Prof. George W. McKinney directed.

CLASSNOTES HELP US TO REMEMBER FRIENDS

91

MARY BOWDEN SMITH ADDY, for the past four years at Rhodes home, Atlanta, was 95 last Christmas. She wrote a charming, two-page letter, in her own hand, to your editor, enclosing a contribution to the Loyalty Fund. She turned her thoughts to her family—to her father, who fought in the War Between the States, was wounded, imprisoned, and afterwards served 43 years in the N. Ga. Conference; to her mother, to Wesleyan. "At my last reunion we had four, one of which was Mary Culler White, and also Mrs. Ainsworth, whom I enjoyed so much. . . . I read with eagerness the alumnae magazine." In 1963 her niece, Lucile Bowden Johnson, '24, Thomson, Ga., established a scholarship in honor of Mrs. Addy, teacher and musician.

'95

NELL PRINGLE, Thomasville Ga., died on Dec. 1, 1967, wrote her niece, Mrs. Richmond Barge, Winter Park, Fla., with whom she had lived for a number of years. "She enjoyed the alumnae bulletin".

'99

JESSUE BARCO Markley, aged 96, has been confined to bed for the past year at Clearwater, Fla. Her nurse of the past four years, Miss Elizabeth J. Watkins, wrote that often Mrs. Markley would reminisce of her college days; that she is "still a very attractive and pretty elderly lady."

'03

next reunion in '70

FRANCES NUNNALLY NAPIER, Dalton, Ga., with her last year's contribution to the Loyalty Fund wrote of "tender memories of our old college days at dear old Wesleyan", that she was blessed with three wonderful daughters and seven grandchildren, also one great grandson, of which she is very proud. "They bring a glow to my sunset years."

'09

next reunion in '73

A tea was given in honor of LOUISE DAVIS DAVISON marking her retirement from the Davison School, Atlanta, which she founded, by its board of trustees on Oct. 26. Louise, a loyal alumna, was given an Alumnae Award for Distinguished Achievement in 1951. (See next issue for further details.)

'12

next reunion in '72

Good to have JENNIE LOYALL MANGET back in Macon after recent surgery in Newnan, Ga. She and "Dr. Fred" enjoyed a trip to New Orleans recently.

ALEEN POER HINTON, we are happy to report, is back in Macon, recuperating from an operation which necessitated her spending some time in Atlanta.

"The sojourn over Wesleyan's beautiful campus filled my heart with elation. I'm proud of her", wrote VES PARKER from Arcadia, Fla., after a visit to the college in October with JENNIE LOYALL MANGET. Miss Ves was accompanied by her niece, Mrs. June Whidden, whom she reared, the daughter of her brother and her Wesleyan room-mate.

'17

next reunion in '72

MINNIE SMITH FABER, Columbus, Ga., at a meeting of the Marguerite Garden Club in September, spoke on the original building of Wesleyan College. The program was based on twelve Wedgwood plates, each of which represented a great building or outstanding event in the history of Georgia and followed dinner around the patio of the home of Dr. William Henry Shaw. In July she attended the wedding of her niece, JENNIE LOUISE SMITH (see Weddings) in St. Louis, Mo., and wrote that in October she planned to attend her fifth Governor's Conference on Education in Atlanta.

Sympathy to EDITH CULPEPPER TURPIN, Macon, and family, on the death of the wife of her son, William, after an extended illness, in Alexandria, Va.

'18

next reunion in '70

APPHIA JACKSON FINLY, N. Wilkesboro, N. C., had a reunion with LINDA ANDERSON LANE and her daughter, Linda, in Blowing Rock, N. C. in August. Apphia and her husband, Richard, have a summer home at Blowing Rock, where the Lanes attended a lovely party. Young Linda played golf with her.

RUTH HOUSER GARRETT, Ft. Valley, Ga., former alumnae trustee, is reported "looking wonderful" since recuperating from a heart attack.

'19

next reunion in '74

These Golden Girls came back for reunion, '69: Anabel Moye Fleming, Ann Martin Holmes, Elizabeth Day Nunnally, Lucia Chappell Domingos, Linda Anderson Lane, Lila Lumpkin, Rosaline Jenkins Gilmore (with Rev. Arthur L. Gilmore, husband), Minnie Burns Schmidt, Sarah Bowden Frederick (with Ralph Frederick, husband), Bessie Tappan Farris, Mary Marvin James Twitty, (with E. G. Twitty, husband), Clara Carter Acree (with Maurice Acree, husband), Mary Atkinson Whitesell (with W. A. Whitesell, husband), Lois Ragsdale Sherrill, Mary Frank McClure Chandler, Frances Gurr McLanahan (with Mike McLanahan, son), Sarah Mobley, Paula Snelling, Katherine Thomas Smith, and Kathleen Rogers Pape.

'22

Congratulations to Irene Sewell Hobby, and (Dr.) Worth, Atlanta, on the birth of their grandson, Richard Lovick Hobby, on Sept. 7.

'25

next reunion in '73

ZULA PIERCE, executive director of the Richmond, Va. YWCA, has retired and gone "home to Atlanta". Zula earned her MA at Peabody College, taught PE at Southern Seminary in Buena Vista, Va., was with the Y for 23 years. During the war she served the Red cross in Italy, Germany, and Iceland. In retirement she looks forward to seeing "family and friends—many of whom date back to my college days."

EUNICE THOMSON retired from her position in New York in October.

Come Along
to Reunion, 1970!
April 10-11

'26

next reunion in '72

Congratulations to KATHERINE WALKER McELHENEY, Dallas, Tex., on the marriage of her daughter Katherine, to Paul Douglas Solon, in Aug. Mother and daughter traveled together in Europe during the summer, after Kay's year in Paris on a French government grant, doing research for her doctoral thesis on French history. The groom received his Ph.D. in June from Brown; he is a teacher there. Sympathy to HELEN PERDUE, Macon, on the death of her brother, William, in Aiken, S. C.

'27

next reunion in '72

EMILY NEEL CALDWELL, Thomasville, Ga., wrote: "Every issue of the WESLEYAN ALUMNAE has been a joy to read, but this last issue (Feb.) is simply superb! Your article, "Growth Through Comedy" was a perfect summary for the course I taught last fall on World Literature, which included Greek comedy and tragedy. I don't know when I have enjoyed an article more. . . ." Thank you! Sympathy to CAROL ARNOLD, Washington, D. C., on the death of her mother, Mrs. John J. Arnold, in March. "Mrs. Arnold was proud of Wesleyan and watched its progress. . . . Wesleyan had a loyal supporter in her and one who never failed to sing Wesleyan's praises", wrote Carrie Allgood. "It is always a pleasure to get THE WESLEYAN ALUMNAE. I was especially glad to see Mrs. Quillian's picture in the August issue. She really looks as young as she did in 1926." Carol Arnold works in the Internal Revenue Service, employed there for many years.

'28

next reunion in '72

Sympathy to ELIZABETH LIPHAM JONES, Dalton, Ga., whose husband died last summer. They have grown, married children.

'30

next reunion in '71

Sympathy to HELEN KILPATRICK LYON, Atlanta chairman of Group 4, on the recent death of her father.

'29

next reunion in '72

Sympathy to MARTHA LAMAR MORRISON, Savannah, Ga., whose husband, Joe, died in May following an illness of three years. Martha works at the Juliette Gordon Low (founder of Girl Scouts) birthplace, where ELIZABETH ("BOOTS") BALDWIN ALEXANDER, '35, is business manager. "We talk Wesleyan quite a bit", wrote Martha, "we have many friends in common."

'31

next reunion in '71

MARTHA PATE ALLEN, Winter Haven, Fla., with HELEN McNATT BRADLEY, '25, Savannah, and MARIA COVINGTON, '68, Nokomis, Fla., toured the Orient this summer, visiting ten countries in 40 days. Highlight was in Taipei, where, in the absence of Mme. Chang, her secretary entertained them at tea and took them to visit Madame's pet projects (homes for crippled and orphan children), also other places of interest.

'32

next reunion in '71

Congratulations to MARY FELTON PAULK, Moultrie, Ga., on the marriage of her daughter, Patricia Lee, to Scott Capen Shaffer. MALEEN LEE MORGAN, wrote: "Every time I read an issue of the Wesleyan alumnae magazine it makes me proud to be a Wesleyanne. But your last issue (Feb.) really did even more. It made me want to be a better Wesleyanne."

VIRGINIA TOWNSEND MUNFORD, Jackson, Miss., houseguest of Katherine P. Carnes in October, was a special guest on campus at the Board of Managers meeting. She was in Macon attending the Presbyterian Listening Session, representing the Board of Education of Women's Work. Her son Robert is a senior at Harvard, Luther a junior at Princeton.

Yes, there is a Virginia

The Loyalty Fund appeal read: "We ask only that you consider what Wesleyan has meant in your life". . . . "Much more than the small check enclosed!" wrote Virginia Scott Estes, AB 1937, from Newnan, Ga. "Hope this helps swell a total of a large amount as all of us pause in gratitude to Wesleyan."

'34

next reunion in '76

Reunion notes from SALLY JONES PAFFORD, Valdosta, Ga.: "We missed those who couldn't make it, and wish all of you could have been there! MARTHA OATIS CARROLL'S husband, Jim, and Max Marsh (WRAY SHEPPARD'S husband) were there. . . . Dr. Gin and Mary Murphey's sister, Margaret, joined us on Friday evening for our 'get-together'. From Edgewater, Md., to Quincy, Fla. we came and had a fine time with our 'Do you remember?' and 'These are my pictures' and 'How things have changed!' The general program was delightful with Eugenia Rawls' exciting performances. JUDY WOODWARD made us all very proud Saturday when she gave the report from our Legacy

Class of '34. Let's all think serious of trying to include our Alma Mater in our wills, no matter how small the amount. . . . perhaps next time we can have a larger group. Meaning, please do send class notes to the alumnae magazine about your 'going on'. Would you be interested in get-together (Sat.-Sun.) of just one class, perhaps in the fall, at some central location? If so, write to me. Sally's address is 1435 Sustella Avenue, Valdosta, Ga. 31601.

Legacy Class members returning for reunion: Martha Oatis Carroll, Charlotte Tyus Dekle, Mary Murphy Deaton, Marie Cochran Haynes, Ruffe Cox Lantz, Wray Sheppard Mars, Alice McKinnon Matthews, Mildred Kendrick Matthews, Sally Jones Pafford, Elizabeth Whitehead, Emma Stephens Wilson, Julia Munro Woodward.

'35

next reunion in '71

Congratulations to MARGARET MUNROE THROWER, and Trustee Randolph Thrower, Atlanta, on the marriage of their daughter, Patricia Gray, to John Robert Barmeyer on Aug. 22.

'36

next reunion in '71

Good to hear from CAROLYN MAXWELL, Atlanta, from London, England, where she is with the US Embassy.

VIRGINIA BOWERS MILLETT, Alexandria, La., has two sons in college, with another to enter next year. With her Loyalty Fund check she writes, "I enjoy the alumnae magazine very much".

ROBERTA INGLE JOLLY, Dalton, Ga., named "Mother of the Year" last year by the Junior Woman's Club, was honored again when her son Jim and his wife, JUDY McCONNELL JOLLY, '64, were nominated "Family of the Year". Roberta's youngest son and his bride are in Bremerhaven, Germany, where he is with the security branch of the USSN. In boot camp he was named Honor Man by the men and Outstanding Recruit by his commanding officer. "We are equally proud of Charlotte (Mrs. Floyd Hale, '62) and her family, and happy that they are no further away than Atlanta", wrote Roberta.

'38

next reunion in '71

SUSAN MAGETTE, Charleston, S.C., hated missing Alumnae Week-end especially Alumnae Council and '38's reunion—work piled up! "Wesleyan alumnae always flock together. Who should sit beside me at breakfast (45th annual convention S. C. AAUW) but 'our' ANN CROOM, now a mainstay of the Gaffney AAUW. . . . in charge of the luncheon and did a very commendable job. MARY KAY THORNTON McLELLAN, director of college and junior rious ed Cross in Washington, D. C., sent Ma copy of the Red Cross Newsletter all t Feb., last year, which reported ne at five percent of our 1967 grad-ntin-ating class was at that time working o th the ARC clubmobile program goin S. Korea.

39 next reunion in '74
sympathy to MARYBETH JONES Av EACH, Montgomery, Ala., on the nexpected death of her mother, Mrs.
ng ft. R. Jones, of Damsen, Ga., on Aug. 12. They had just returned from y D Florida vacation when Mrs. Jones
Runffered a coronary.

40 next reunion in '73
LICE DOMINGOS, Macon, at the annual meeting of the WSCS, S. Ga.
onference, received a marker to be aced in the UDC Cannon Ball ouse, in the room where the group, en called Woman's Missionary So-REety, held its first annual meeting in uste 1880. Alice is chairman of the Macon an district, Wesleyan Service Guild of riagne Conference; granddaughter of v, Minnie Bass Burden, 1874 (daughter 22. f Wesleyan President W. C. Bass), who was secretary of the 1880 meetng; and namesake of Alice Culler obb, 1858 (first chair of English and in 'ady principal of Wesleyan), who resided over it (Alice's mother,
En ALICE COBB BURDEN DOMIN-En OS, '08, was the original nameake.)
sympathy to ELAINE PRIDGEN MASSEY, Macon, on the death of her mother, in September.

41 next reunion in '74
BETSY W. COOK, Atlanta, "out of touch with Wesleyan far too long", he writes: "Although I finished my work an an MED degree at Emory in 1958, om my thoughts return to Wesleyan time Rafter time, and I realize it was from rid Wesleyan that I obtained the bulk er of my education. It is to her that I owe my gratitude for setting the stage for my future work in education and for many of my attitudes and in general." Betsy is librarian in two small schools in Cobb county, near Smymna. She is to be convention chair-an next June when Kappa Kappa ota, national honorary teachers' sority, meets in Atlanta. She writes of finding in 1947 her first Wesleyan
roommate in Pauley's Island, S. C.
FLORENCE LACHICOTTE HALL, living in her mother's home (the atter was killed in an auto accident shortly after Florence left Wesleyan in '42). At one of Betsy's schools the principal is the husband of MARY CHAMBERS REESE; also teaching
A there this year is Shirley Hall, '69.
In August Betsy enjoyed seeing her Friend and classmate, JEANNETTE
HARRIS MORGAN, in West Point, Ga.

Sympathy to VIRGINIA HATCH-ER TAYLOR, Charleston, Miss.,

on the death by drowning of her son George, 20, while swimming in Enid Lake on Aug. 26; also on the passing of her father seven weeks later, at the age of 84. George was an outstanding young man, who hoped to major in art. Virginia and Bill's daughter, Nancy, is a freshman at Miss. College.

BARBARA WRIGHT KELIEHOR has moved from Kyoto, Japan, to Manila. Not able to return she sent greetings to the class.

Tell me, little Gypsy!

When you hit the trail, how about letting us know? The Alumnae Office cannot find you if you move without letting us know your change of address. If you don't get your Alumnae Magazine
it comes back to us, a total loss, plus cost of postage. And you don't get the news of Wesleyan.

'42 next reunion in '74
ANNIE LAURIE KURTZ LYON,
Houston, Tex., was recently elected to Phi Kappa Phi honor society at Houston U, from whom she holds the MA in history. Her daughter Kathleen, on the President's List (16 hours of 'A') is a nursing major, expects her BS next June at the U of Wyoming. Her brother, Eugene A.
Kurtz, composer, lives in Paris, having returned there after a year as a teaching fellow at the U of Mich.
One of his works was played by the Atlanta Symphony last season.

'45 next reunion in '70
Congratulations to FLORENCE SIT-TON GAUTIER and Jack, Macon, on the marriage of their daughter,
Alice Grace, to Douglas Brice Fincher, Jr., on Oct. 18.

'47 next reunion in '70
JANE MALLET SETTLE, Jackson, Ga., (and Nancy) left in June to join her husband in Frankfurt, Germany, where he has a three-year government assignment.

'48 next reunion in '70
ANNE VINSON NOLAND, Louisville, Ky., writes: "When our three children were all in school, I went back, and this past June received the PhD in biology with a major in geology from the U of Louisville" (she was an all-A student there!) And elected to Phi Kappa Phi.
ANN PICKENS MACK has moved from Norfolk to Forrestville, Md. as her husband, Cmdr. Bob Mack, is stationed at the Washington, D. C.
Navy Yard. Sons Neil (7th grade) and Dan (5th) delight in an AAU swim team. "I got much pleasure from meeting Wesleyannes in Norfolk", she wrote, "and would like to meet them in this section. I keep in touch with MAE HIGHTOWER,

'47, in Delaware, ROSE CROCKETT
McRAE, '48, and TEMPLE WIL-SON ELLIS, '58, in Georgia."

'49 next reunion in '70
BOHI YUNG HYUN teaches organ at Ewa College, in Seoul, Korea. Her husband, who was dean at Ewa, teaches Bible and homiletics, was voted one of 20 outstanding men to study the ecumenical movement.
NADINE CRANMER READ, Marietta, Ga., was on campus Sept. 30 to visit her daughter, Becky, a freshman. With her was John, 4½. Other children are Stanton, 16; Lucy, 9;
and Emily, 8. Her husband, a builder, is housing inspector for the city of Atlanta. Becky works part time at Elson's book store at Cobb Center.
She reports that when the Cobb County Alumnae Club met in June at First Methodist Church, REGINA
RAMBO BENSON, '08, attended, was her usual vital self. Soon she came down with double pneumonia and not long after died. "She was a wonderful person, smiling to the very end", said Nadine. JOANNE RUS-SELL CAMPBELL, '50, is president of the Cobb group.

'50 next reunion in '70
Sympathy on the death of her father,
W. G. Hardeman, veteran Macon
realtor, to RUTH HARDEMAN SCHUBRING, Athens, Ga. He suffered a stroke while visiting in her home. He sent three daughters to Wesleyan.

'52
Sympathy to Myra Jo Zetterower
Oliff on the death of her husband, William L. Oliff, Aug. 21 in an automobile accident in Statesboro, Ga.
They have two sons, Willie, 11, and Wayne, 3½.

'53 next reunion in '71
CLAIRE HOUSER CROWDER'S daughter, Emily, aged 12, Forsyth, Ga., won the state UDC contest last year at Banks-Stephens Institute.
Her subject was Alexander Hamilton
Stephens.
JERRY DIXON EDDY has moved to Schenectady, N. Y., where her husband is minister to the First Unitarian Society. Jerry received her MA in library science from the U of Mich.
last year and now works as an elementary school librarian.
MARY ANN MEADOWS HARVEY and her husband, with their two daughters, were visitors on campus in August. Mr. Harvey teaches on the Fiji Islands, in Suva.

'54

next reunion in '71

SALLY ROGERS McNEIL, Eng-land, Ark., and her four children were visitors at Wesleyan in Aug. BARBARA MORRIS BROWN and husband, with two daughters, of Ft. Myers, Fla., visited the college in September.

'55

next reunion in '72

NORMA (PETE) MOSS THOMAS, Titusville, Fla., her mother, and daughters, Lisa, 13, and Heather, 10, ("future Wesleyannes"), were guests on campus in June, en route to Cleveland, Ohio.

MARY JACKSON assisted with costumes at Sheridan's "School for Scandal", produced by the Little Theatre, of Alexandria, Va.

'56

next reunion in '72

JO ANNE COPELAND CHAPPLE, Milledgeville, Ga.: "They came in 3's—taught 3 years, have 3 children (Steve, Joey, and Georgeanne), moved 3 times, spent 3 years back in Macon . . . now we've been in Milledgeville 3 years." Her husband has his own business there, and she teaches volunteer art classes.

Sympathy to MARY ANN SNELL-GROVE ELYEA, Concord, N. C., on the death of her mother, Katherine King Snellgrove, '21.

'57

next reunion in '72

MARTY HOWELL HARDIN, Lakeland, Fla., and Ben, a dentist, have three children, the youngest in kindergarten. "I was so surprised by the number of girls mentioned in the alumnae magazine who had earned their degrees that I have been seriously considering returning to school when Beth is in school", she wrote. She was delighted, in Aug., to meet HOPE DAVIS McCLANE, '58, just moved to Lakeland with her husband, Thomas, a psychiatrist. They have two children. Her minister had asked her to call. She wrote of the pleasant surprise, the spring of '68, when the Wesleyan representative at their high school, whom she had invited to lunch, turned out to be her college mate, ARLINE ATKINS FINCH. "What fun we had!"

'58

next reunion in '72

MEDRA LOTT WALLACE, Bellevue, Neb. "I read and reread my alumnae magazine and especially enjoy the news of the various classes. I've been an Air Force wife (Maj. R. S. Wallace) nearly 13 years and everywhere we go I find Wesleyannes, even when we were in Puerto Rico." Two years ago, in the Base exchange, she bumped into SANDY ROSE LASKIE, '59, whose husband is a weather officer there. "We see each other often and both love talking about Wesleyan. We'd love to have a tea or coffee to introduce some local girls to Wesleyan. . . ." In Florida, on leave in July, she chatted with MARY ELLEN MIDKIFF WILLIS and JUNE MAYS BELMONT, both '58, who live in Sarasota. Medra's Laura is 11, Cynthia 10, and Richard 5. "I loved the idea of the Spring alumnae week-end. I hope I can come for a visit soon. I'm anxious for my daughters to see Wesleyan."

'60

next reunion in '73

VICTORIA WILSON LOGUE, Charlotte, N. C., wrote: "Reunion week-end was a memorable experience, and all of us who attended are grateful for the well planned and stimulating program, and the fun reunion party at JACKIE RICHARDSON'S. It was encouraging to see the enthusiasm and concern for Wesleyan's present and future which was expressed by our class members." Vickie and Paul live in the Mint Hill community, enjoying a taste of country life. Their daughter Sue was born April 6, 1968.

KAREN WIDDOWSON HUNT brought a Green Knight scrapbook all the way from Albuquerque, N. Mex., which was enjoyed by all at the reunion.

SUE LEWIS LIPOMA has been personnel manager at Atlanta's Saks Fifth Avenue since May, 1968. Daughter Carmen Elizabeth is 3.

PEGGY PIERCE SVOBODA has two girls, 4 and 5; her husband, Robert, is a major, stationed at Eglin AFB, Fla.

KAY CARROLL BARNES and Ken are enjoying their new home in Woodbury, Ga., where he is vice president of the Woodbury Banking Co. She plays the organ at church, is busy with the new private school and two children, Kara, 6½, and Hynes, 4.

MEREDITH YOUNG TAYLOR POWELL, Statesboro, Ga., finished her MA (Ed.) in June and plans to teach next year. Her husband teaches English at Ga. Southern. They have three girls, Claire, 12; Mandy, 6; and Shannon, 3.

BARBARA BETTS TUCK spent the past year in Decatur, Ga., while her Frank served in Vietnam with the Air Force. Their Stephanie Susan is 7, and Steven Benjamin is 4½.

SYLVIA CLARK programs WQXI-FM in Atlanta. After being at that post for three years, this music major was quoted in Town Talk in the ATLANTA MAGAZINE: "We like to put music on the air that is in consistent good taste—yet alive . . . to bring a familiar, moving, enjoyable fun sound. . . . I slip in records constantly to create more of a sense of what is happening today." The program averages 100 request calls a day.

ANNE STUCKEY CLARKE, Atlanta, wrote some time ago that her husband, Al, was in his second year as associate minister of Peachtree Road Methodist Church; that Alsb then five, was attending kindergarten there. "I have had many opportunities to be with former classmates and other Wesleyan graduates."

'61

next reunion in '74

Sympathy to JUDY HARDEMAN CALDWELL, Miramar, Fla., on the recent death of her father.

'63

next reunion in '75

BITSY WINGFIELD DICK, Elizabeth Octavia, 4, Raleigh, N. C., visited Wesleyan in the spring. She teaches high school sophomore English.

MARIANNE STELPSTROM BROOKS has moved to Lakeland, Fla., where her husband is in private practice of dentistry.

ANN BOOTH BALDWIN, Decatur, Ga., is working at Family-Children Services in DeKalb Cty. She has two girls, 3 and 5.

'64

next reunion in '76

CAROL BURT received her MA in accounting from the U of Ga. She was elected to Beta Alpha Psi and Phi Kappa Phi honor societies, is now with Haskins and Sells in Atlanta. She shares an apartment with KAREN MOORE, '67.

Father of ROBIN HICKMAN HUBER wrote President Strickland in September: "Robin got her Master's and is writing her dissertation on her Doctor's degree at Florida State in English Education. Also, her husband, Tom, is writing his dissertation in biochemistry and they are to go to Memphis this fall where he will do post-doctoral research at St. Jude Hospital for Children. Robin may teach a little later but right now she is taking care of Amanda Bell, born Feb. 8 and inclined to be red-headed. Save room for her in the fall of 1987."

NANCY VAN AKEN completed requirements for the MA degree from John Carroll U in Cleveland, O. last summer. She teaches junior high geography and government.

JOY COODY MOON'S husband, Floyd, is a lawyer; they live in Valdosta.

MARJORIE MORGAN ALMAND, Macon, works for the Welfare Dept in Macon; her husband, Hale, attended Mercer law school.

LINDA PRICE FLECK, New Hartford, Conn., has a little girl, Liesel Christine. Linda has started work on her Master's at the U of Conn., is a speech therapist.

KE, 5
that JARON HARP WHITLEY, Carr-ond y, received her MFA in studio eacht from UNC in June last year. Her at Alsband, Philip, received his this nderg. Their Lise is 2.
y opp assma tes."

6 VELYN KNIGHT CANNON repsented Wesleyan at the inauguration of the 12th president of Coker College, Hartsville, S. C., on Oct. 16.
NI HARSHBARGER LAMBACK presented Wesleyan at the inauguration of David Bicknell Truman president of Mt. Holyoke College et. 18. Gini's husband, Capt. Sam amback, Jr., is in his third year
K al Yale Divinity School, New Haven;
N e serves as minister of Seymour
ng. United Methodist Church, Seymour, re Enn., where Gini teaches the senior gh Sunday School class. She is employed at the Dept. of Family and children's Services, investigating fosin pi r homes. Sam, a graduate of West point, will be a chaplain in the U S Decatu my.

he ONNA VAUGHN, now living in New York City, has been appearing a "Mame" with Patrice Munsel, a Kenley production. Also this summer she played in "How Now, Dow ones", as standby for Jane Powell ones", and in "My Fair Lady" (Eliza), and in MA The Unsinkable Molly Brown". In
a. S her spare time she does commercials si an or national TV.

in ANN BROWN has completed the t four-week training course at Delta's Stewardess School at the Atlanta Air-Hort. Her base will be Miami, to nd serve 22 states, DC, and the Caribben.

67
hus JANE MANLEY WHEELLESS, Grif-sertin, Ga., wrote of an exciting and are eventful summer. Married in June e will (see Weddings) she received her ude Master of Education degree in ma Speech Pathology from the U of Ga.
v sh in Aug., with membership in Phi bor Kappa Phi. She wrote of her enjoy-aded ment of the alumnae magazine, of ll other sister-in-law, ANNE HILGEN MANLEY (see Births). "Anne and d re I loved Wesleyan and our memories from of those days are some of our dear-las est."

high JANIE HUDSON WILLIAMS and wrote to Mrs. Eschmann a while back from Japan: "I enjoy the alumnae magazine so much, for I find it a little difficult keeping up with Wesleyan and all my classmates considering the distance between us! Perkins (lt. j.g.) and I are stationed in Yokosuka, Japan, and we love it over here. We live in a typical Japanese home about two blocks from the ocean. We have a lovely view of Mt. Fuji. Japan is a beautiful

next reunion in '70

next reunion in '71

next reunion in '71

country and we're taking advantage of every opportunity to see as much of the far east as possible. KIMIE KANAI lives only about five miles from where we live . . . quite coincidental . . . we get together often and talk over all our wonderful times at Wesleyan. She's now working on her MA degree in English at Tokyo International Christian University. I enjoy reading all about the Wesleyannes in the alumnae magazine. The Golden Heart Class of '67 seems to be widespread but I hope we can all meet again at Wesleyan in 1971.
Sayonara!"

KAREN MOORE graduated in Aug.
with the MA degree in English from the U of Ga. She is in Atlanta with Southern Bell, editor of the Bell Tel
News. Karen is a valued "Alumnae Link".

Keep Us Informed!

Unless you tell us your family's births, deaths, marriages, or other happenings we cannot know. If you don't we cannot be responsible for their omission from these pages.
We glean our news from various sources; please help us be accurate and complete in our coverage by your cooperation. Thank you!
FKN.

LYNN BURNETT has begun work on her PhD in English at the U of Iowa.

JUDY JOHNSON received her MA from the U of Ga. in June, is now teaching first grade at Inman Park, Atlanta.

KATHY DEBERRY is teaching music, her second year, in the Atlanta public schools.

ELIZABETH ETHRIDGE, is in her second year with McDermott Travel Agency, Macon. She spent two weeks this fall in London and Rome. Her mother, Martha Tichnor Ethridge,
'34, teaches piano in her home.

Sympathy to Dr. and Mrs. W. C.
Whitley, (ANN ALEXANDER) Macon, on the death of their daughter, Mickey, 16, this summer in an automobile accident. Dr. Whitley is principal of the Dudley Hughes Vocational School. (See Births)

LISA BONNER JOSLIN wrote to Dr. Ernestine Bledsoe from Hahne-mann Medical College, where she is an "intern" working toward a graduate degree in art therapy. In the group of 20 Lisa is the only student from a southern school, chosen from 100 applicants. Lisa plans to be an "art therapist" in a school, to "create art situations for the individual rather than the group . . . to draw non-verbal communication from the children and analyze their drawings."

'68

next reunion in '71

JANA WITHAM, Stamford, Conn., received her Master of Music from Northwestern in June and will be studying voice privately in New York City for the next year.

ANN PLAPINGER, working and living in France, was able to see
GAYLE CLARK and LAURA SUL-LIVAN BARKLEY last summer
when they were on tour with ANN MUNCK and TENA ROBERTS.

JUDY FLOYD SMITH and husband, Sidney, have returned to Florence, S. C. Judy is teaching first grade and Sid has begun a management training course with J. C. Penney Co.

BRENDA WILHOIT ELEBASH has toured the USA, moving four times in a year with her soldier husband. Since June, Gene, a 1st Lt. in Vietnam, has been an Army advisor to S. Vietnamese troops. Brenda returned home to Pensacola, Fla., where their first child, Melissa Ann, was born Aug. 26. Daddy is expected home in March, 1970.

VIRGINIA HIERS MILLER, Macon, teaches fifth grade math at Linwood Elementary School, an AF dependents school at Warner Robins, Ga., while working on her MA thesis (Emory U). Her husband, Prof.
Roger Miller, of Wesleyan's foreign languages department, is preparing his doctoral dissertation (U of Colo).
Sympathy to PAT HARDEMAN
LEWIS, Macon, on the recent death of her father.

LANDRA HAMPTON, Dalton, Ga., is now a stewardess with Delta Air Lines. Based in Atlanta, she will flv to many of the 60 cities served by Delta.

'69

next reunion in '71

MELISSA LANE THOMAS, Winston-Salem, N. C., and daughter Kelly visited Melissa's grandmother, Linda Anderson Lane, '19, Macon, in June.

MARY ELAINE HARPER, Arlington, Va., has joined the American Red Cross staff as a hospital recreation worker at Walter Reed Army Medical Center, Washington, D. C.

KATHERINE MCNAIR, Macon, is the new manager of the Wesleyan College book store.

SHIRLEY HALL is teaching fourth grade Teasley school, Smyrna, Ga., employed by Cook County Board of Education.

NAN PELLE, Albany, Ga., was seriously injured in an auto accident when returning from her honeymoon with her husband, Richard Wuller.
They were married Aug. 26.

LINDA RICH is working for the American Red Cross at the US Naval Hospital in Pensacola, Fla.

Come Along
to Reunion, 1970!
April 10-11

"No Termination"

Dear Mr. Sanders,

I have just finished writing some letters of welcome to our new crop of freshmen. I'm sure that your office must have every name and hometown deeply embedded in your minds! Needless to say, it won't be anytime before those names will have faces.

I wrote my letters this year as a senior, and, as such, I guess I'm entitled to some sentimentality. It seems that I could not say enough about my school to the freshmen. My thoughts were clear, but my eyes were misty and my heart swelling with the pride of being a Wesleyanne. Upon rereading some letters sent to me as a trembling freshman, I found the same pride and love expressed in each letter about "the oldest and best" that I tried to express in my letters. It must be inherited!

It seems like last week when I visited campus and you so graciously welcomed Mother and me. My intuition said a loud "yes!" to the thought of making Wesleyan my college home. The Lord knew exactly what he was doing when he planted that thought in my head!

What Wesleyan has given me will not graduate next spring, for there is no termination to such things. I look forward to another year of learning from her and receiving all the joys of being a Wesleyanne.

Thank you for your contribution to our college community, as well as to each of our lives.

I'm so glad that I've been privileged to be a Wesleyanne.

Sincerely,
Jonnie Johnston

(This letter, unsolicited, was received by Allen Sanders, admissions director at Wesleyan. We thank him for sharing it with us. FKN)

Congratulations!

Dr. and Mrs. Joseph B. James' granddaughter, Barbara Anne, was born September 5. Barbara Anne is also the great niece of Miss Frances Strohecker, secretary to the President.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mignerey are grandparents — Michelle Mignerey was born on September 21 in Camp LeJeune Hospital, Jacksonville, N.C.

Dr. and Mrs. Earl Wilson's grandson — Walter John Boscardin, was born in the Naval Hospital, Norfolk, Va., three minutes after Wesleyan's fall registration began.

MARRIAGES

Margaret Nix, '67, Poutsmouth, Va., to James F. Windley.

Elizabeth Sorrells, '69, to Richard T. Webb, Atlanta.

Helen Lee Reeves, '65, to James C. Stephens, Jr., Soperton, Ga.

Joyce Akin, '67, to Ronald Lenderman, Atlanta.

Elizabeth Anne Felkel, '67, to James E. Zaranek. Husband is working on his PhD at Kansas State, Manhattan, Kans.

Elizabeth Sims, '64, is Mrs. Maddams, Macon, Ga.

Georgia Hughes Fox, '70, is Mrs. William E. McIntosh, Des Moines, Iowa.

Emily Elizabeth Vardaman, '69, to Alton Monroe Adams, Macon.

Peggy Ann Thomas, '66, is Mrs. Sears, Durham, N.C.

Jody Lynn Mazur, '69, to William Henry Trigg, Jonesboro, Ga.

Judy Haisten, '69, to Charles Gatlis, Jr., on July 5. They live in Decatur, Ga., where Judy teaches fifth grade for the DeKalb County school system.

Carol A. Steinhauer to Thomas R. Agnew, Dec. 21, 1968. Living in Atlanta, where both are with banking institutions.

Linda Suzanne Goulding, '70, to Everett Anthony Stewart, Augusta, Ga.

30. Living in Norcross, Ga.

Glenn Elizabeth Hillyer, '68, to William Allen Corley, in Aug. 1968. They live in Decatur, Ga.

Sarah Beverly Gunter, '67, to Rev. Gerry Gulley, in March, 1968. Living in Highland, Ind.

Betty Virginia Hood, '69, to Terry D. Lydick, in Aug. Living in Bremerton, Wash.

Laura Jones, '46, to H. L. Turner, Atlanta, on July 18.

Annie Louise Herrick, '66, is Mrs. Stearns.

Ann Fleming, '70, to Neil Owen Davis, Jr., Aug. 23, Huntsville, Ala.

Ann Lyles, '59, is Mrs. Gudath, Brandon, Fla.

Eugenia Toole, '49, to the Rev. Mortimer Worth Glover, Jr., July 1968. Mr. Glover is on the staff of St. George's Episcopal Church, NYC.

Patricia Lee Millirons, '68, Knoxville, Tenn., to Alan Russell Hubbard.

Elise Hartman McElrath, '51, Macon, to Stanley Burton Friedman, Aug. 22.

Pam Fletcher, '70, married Don Berg Nov. 24, 1968. They have moved to Dayton, Ohio, with Pam completing her senior year at the U of Dayton. Don works for General Foods.

Jennie Louise Smith, '52, to Col. Homer L. Walker, in a military ceremony in St. Louis, Mo. They live in a suburb, Florissant.

Jean Marie Russell, '68, to Jackson Percy Ward, III, Aug. 17, at St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Atlanta.

Jane Manley, '67, to Capt. Douglas C. Wheelless, June 14. Now living in New Jersey, as groom is enrolled in Signal Corps School at Ft. Monmouth.

Sister and brother married within seven weeks: Susan Lenora Kirvin, '67, to Charles (Chuck) L. Ogburn, Jr., June 15. They live in Augusta, Ga., where Chuck attends Medical College of Ga. and Susan teaches sixth grade at Gracewood. Groom's sister, Lynda Ogburn, '68, was a bridesmaid. On Aug. 9 Lynda married James Hagan Anderson. Matron of honor was Connie Berg Plunkett, '68; bridesmaids included Susan and other classmates, Nancy Lewis McKinney, Kathy Wilson Johnson, Jenny Agnew, Suzanne Moore. Lynda and Jim are both teaching in the Bibb County (Macon) School system.

Anne Lee Hood, '68, to Glenn Warren Geisler, Charleston, S.C.

Carol Anne Page, '60, to Frank A. Lane, Coral Gables, Fla.

Margaret Isabelle Burch, '33, to Thomas G. Harton, Colonel, USA (Retired), Raleigh, N.C. Groom is chief of planning division, N.C. Dept. of Water and Air Resources.

Susan Glover, '66, to Dr. Brian T. Jordan, Covington, La. Groom is clinical psychologist with the St. Tammany Parish Mental Health Center.

Dianne Carstaphen, '69, to John N. Bowman, on August 22. Living in Atlanta.

STATISTICS

Priscilla S. Gautier, '68, to John Albert Bormann, Jr., Address: Tusseta, Ga.
 Betty Stewart Wingfield, '38, to Joseph Porter, Macon, on June 4.
 Cheryl Grantham, '68, to Jerry Fee, Valdosta, Ga. Groom is from Los Angeles, was graduated from the AF Academy, and attended Rice.
 Margaret Nix, '67, Portsmouth, Va., to James F. Windley, a fellow graduate in '68 of Old Dominion College, on Aug. 2. Groom is in training with the Virginia State Dept. of Highways.
 Josephine Fielding Barker, '68, and William Stephens Lamb, both of Macon, October 7, last year at Vineville Methodist Church. Groom is CPA with Haskins and Sells, Atlanta.
 Wyolene Hart Griner, '24, Macon, to William Walter Hibbert III, Atlanta, November 4 last year. She is legal secretary; he is executive director of Middle Georgia Area Planning Commission.

BIRTHS

To Sally Ann Staff Barbarree, '66, and Donald, a first child, Melissa Dawn, Aug. 19, Crestview, Fla.
 To Margaret Ann Chafin Johnson, '69, and Stephen Wayne Johnson, a girl, Mary Catherine, Sept. 7, at Tallahassee, Fla.
 To Robin Hickman '64, and Tom Huber a girl, Amanda Belle, on Feb. 8.
 To Curry Harrison Verner, '65, and William, a son, William D. Verner III, Aug. 22, in Columbia, S.C.
 To Ann Alexander Whitley, '67, and her husband, Dr. W. C. Whitley, Macon, a daughter, Heather Michelle, Sept. 27. Father is principal of Dudley Hughes Vocational School and was recently elected to Macon City Council.
 To Rowena Dawson Smith and Bill, '63, a son, Bradford William Smith, Oct. 7. Daughter Lori is almost two.
 To Frances Bruce Van Horn and Dick, Macon, their fourth daughter, Miriam Frances, Oct. 1. Frances is our new alumnae director.
 To Lt. and Mrs. Newton Walker Chewning (Jo An Johnson, '66), a son, Robert Walker Chewning, on March 11, in Heidelberg, Germany, where since last Nov. "Daddy" has been supply officer for the 503rd Transportation Corps Co.
 To Linda (Segler, '65) and Lewis King Reynolds their first child, a son, Gavin Lewis, on June 17 in Cincinnati, Ohio.
 To Warrant Officer and Mrs. Robert Henry Schrader (Joan Foster, '68), Tampa, Fla., a son, Matthew Robert, Aug. 22.
 Florence Jolly Hale, '62, and Floyd, have adopted a second child, Roberta Elizabeth, born Jan. 17. Lawson, 2½, "feels very big." Floyd has left the legal department of Lockheed to join the staff of Atlanta Legal Aid Society.
 To Constance Hawkins Crosby, '71, and Glenn, Macon, a daughter, Kelly Renee, born Nov. 12 last year.
 To Nancy Chappell Martin, '62, and Robert, Jr., a son, William Matthew Martin, June 24, in Houston, Tex. Grandparents are Robert D. and Margaret Murphey Martin, '33, Macon.
 To Anne Hilgen Manley, '67, a baby boy, Taylor Battrell Manley, III, on July 2, "quite a honey".
 To Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wall, Jr. (Louise Marchman, '66), Security, Colo., a boy, Joseph.
 To the Rev. and Mrs. Neal P. Ponder, Jr., (Joyce Byrd, '61), their first child, Kathryn Anne, Aug. 21. Father is minister of St. Paul United Methodist Church, Marietta, Ga.
 To Capt. and Mrs. John C. Sawyer (Sarah Janet Hall, '67), Augusta, Ga., a "new recruit", John Curtis Sawyer II, born Oct. 18.
 To Mary Reese Myers, '58, and Albert, Savannah, Ga., their first child, Nelson Edward, Oct. 7.
 To Rodney and Mary Jo Porch Floyd, '61, a son, William Douglas, on July 2, Huntsville, Ala. Wayne is 2½.

November, 1969

DEATHS

1890 Maude Hardeman Murrah
 1895 Nell Pringle
 1898 Jessue Barco Markley
 1902 Emmie Lela Cramling
 1903 Nan Carter Strangward
 1903 Alice Cary Tupper
 1905 Ermine Rambo Watkins
 1906 Mary E. Beyer
 1907 Elizabeth Jones Franklin
 1907 Lucy Twitty Stevens 1908 Regina Rambo Benson
 1910 Lillian Lewis Lightner
 1912 Emma Gaillard Boyce
 1914 Mae Ola Bishop
 1916 Ruth White
 1916 Tommie Perdue Quin
 1917 Lurline Lawson Franklin
 1919 Lucile Ham George
 1921 Katherine King Snellgrove
 1923 Marie Boyette Malone
 1924 Margaret Hamilton Richards
 1927 Martha Westbrook
 1930 Dorothy Weston Duncan

IN MEMORIAM

Helen Cater Farmer

A fund is being set up in memory of Helen Cater Farmer, '14, by members of the Macon Club and other friends. In the WESLEYAN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE of July 3, Ann Martin Holmes '46, described this loyal and devoted alumna as "dependable, stalwart, friendly, kind, merry, courageous, and helpful." Our deepest sympathy to her daughter, Helen Farmer Popejoy, '44, '45, and to her sisters, Kitty Cater Jones, '17, and Frances Cater Snow, '26.

Margaret Richards

Contributions are being sent in to the Alumnae Office in memory of Margaret Richards, '24, whose death occurred Sept. 31. Margaret's career in public relations included serving as executive secretary of Fulton County Medical Society and editor of its bulletin. In 1959 she received an Alumnae Award for Distinguished Service to Wesleyan. "She was a wonderful person and a great tribute to Wesleyan", wrote Mrs. Louis F. Bunte, of Atlanta.

Charlotte E. Hyde

Charlotte Elizabeth Hyde,
 AB, AM, PhD
 Chairman, Chemistry Dept., 1951-5
 August 23, Winston Salem, N.C.

Mrs. Corawayne Wright

Come Along
to Reunion, 1970!
April 10-11

Just in time for holiday giving are two new books by Rebecca Caudill (Ayars), published by Holt, Rinehart and Winston. "Come Along!", a collection of haiku verse, beautifully illustrated by Ellen Raskin, opens with an invitation to children to "roam meadow and mountain and bring home treasure." "Contrary Jenkins" is a very funny tall-tale adventure story, in which her husband, James Ayars collaborated.

Fifty-year reunioner, Rebecca, recuperating from the automobile accident which prevented her appearing on the Wesleyan Leadership Conference last April, has agreed to be speaker on Alumnae Day, Saturday morning, April 11, 1970. At the dinner the preceding night Willie Snow Ethridge, another "Golden Girl", will "entertain". Come along "and bring home treasure" of Wesleyan fun and friendship.

Write your Class Chairman
You'll Come Along!

1895 (Write Alumnae Office)

1900 1902 1903 1905

1910 Mrs. C. M. Slaughter,
2916 Northwood Blvd.,
Orlando, Fla. 32803

1915 Mrs. W. S. Dodd,
1828 SW 11th St.,
Miami, Fla. 33135

1917 Mrs. T. H. Rentz,
424 Drexel Ave.,
Decatur, Ga. 30030

1918 Mrs. J. L. Murphy,
25 Canterbury Rd.,
Rockville Center, L.I., N.Y.
11570

1920 Mrs. Mark F. Ethridge,
Route #1,
Moncure, N.C. 27559

1935 Mrs. R. W. Thrower,
3507 Woodley Rd., N.W.,
Washington, D.C. 20010
Mrs. Jas. C. Grizzard,
30 Wiltshire Dr.,
Avondale Estates, Ga. 30030

1936 Mrs. J. Clay Murphey, 4004 Woodgate Ln.,

Louisville, Ky. 40220
Mrs. Martha McKey,
109 E. Moore St.,
Valdosta, Ga. 31603

1937 Mrs. W. L. M. Knox,
Thomson, Ga. 30824
Mrs. E. W. Exley,
5181 Dearing St.,
Covington, Ga. 30209

1945 Mrs. I. G. Bland,
1528 Sunset Dr., N.E., Warren, Ohio 44483
Mrs. L. D. Stewart,
3115 Trafalgar Dr., Augusta, Ga. 30904

1947 Mrs. Allen C. Anderson,
5410 Leilani Dr.,
St. Petersburg, Fla. 33705
Miss Mitzi Hyman,
1907 S. Milledge,
Carousel Apt. 4-H,
Athens, Ga. 30601

1948 Mrs. G. R. Parkerson,
Route #1,
Winder, Ga. 30680
Mrs. Rodney Cook,
3495 Valley Rd., N.E.,
Atlanta, Ga. 30305

1949 Mrs. Warren M. Cheek,
4430 Ortega Forest Dr.,
Jacksonville, Fla. 32210
Mrs. Leonard Sacks,
935 N. Grandview Ave.,
Daytona Beach, Fla. 32018

1950 Mrs. J. V. Robertson,
Rocky Face, Ga. 30750
(near Dalton)

Mrs. W. Y. Smith,
1542 Crescent Dr.,
Kingsport, Tenn. 37664

1962 Mrs. J. W. Johnson,
Atlanta—Mrs. Johnson says
send material to:
Charlotte Jolly Hale,
1702 Laurens Dr., S.W.,
Atlanta, Ga. 30311

1963 Mrs. William Shockley, 4208 Loura Ann Place,
Macon, Ga. 31204

1964 Mrs. Elizabeth Sims Maddams, Route #2, Thomaston Rd.,
Macon, Ga. 31204

1965 Mrs. Loy Knight, 6252 Birling Drive,
Columbus, Ga. 31904